

Methadone Assisted Recovery Program (MAR)

This program is for individuals struggling with the use of opiates (ex. heroin, morphine, Dilaudid or codeine). Where they have attempted abstinence, and/or accessed recovery services, such as detox, outpatient or inpatient treatment programs to address their opiate use.

Despite their best efforts they continue to struggle with opiate use.

The Methadone Assisted Recovery program may be an additional option for these individuals to consider.

Under the care of a physician, prescribed methadone can assist individuals with the physical withdrawal and cravings for opiates, which allows them the opportunity to develop individualized recovery skills.

The benefits of choosing MAR can include: decreased exposure to HIV and Hep C, improved nutrition, decreased illegal activity associated with opiate use and the opportunity to establish/re-establish healthy living.

*Healthiest people
Healthiest communities
Exceptional service*

Methadone Assisted Recovery Program (MAR)

This program is for individuals struggling with the use of opiates (ex. heroin, morphine, Dilaudid or codeine), where they have attempted abstinence, and/or accessed recovery services, such as detox, outpatient or inpatient treatment programs to address their opiate use.

Despite their best efforts they continue to struggle with opiate use.

The Methadone Assisted Recovery program may be an additional option for these individuals to consider.

Under the care of a physician, prescribed methadone can assist individuals with the physical withdrawal and cravings for opiates, which allows them the opportunity to develop individualized recovery skills.

The benefits of choosing MAR can include: decreased exposure to HIV and Hep C, improved nutrition, decreased illegal activity associated with opiate use and the opportunity to establish/re-establish healthy living.

*Healthiest people
Healthiest communities
Exceptional service*

Methadone Assisted Recovery Program (MAR)

This program is for individuals struggling with the use of opiates (ex. heroin, morphine, Dilaudid or codeine), where they have attempted abstinence, and/or accessed recovery services, such as detox, outpatient or inpatient treatment programs to address their opiate use.

Despite their best efforts they continue to struggle with opiate use.

The Methadone Assisted Recovery program may be an additional option for these individuals to consider.

Under the care of a physician, prescribed methadone can assist individuals with the physical withdrawal and cravings for opiates, which allows them the opportunity to develop individualized recovery skills.

The benefits of choosing MAR can include: decreased exposure to HIV and Hep C, improved nutrition, decreased illegal activity associated with opiate use and the opportunity to establish/re-establish healthy living.

*Healthiest people
Healthiest communities
Exceptional service*

If you are interested in receiving
further information and/or
accessing services ,
please call 655-0480

If you are interested in receiving
further information and/or
accessing services ,
please call 655-0480

If you are interested in receiving
further information and/or
accessing services ,
please call 655-0480

Hope:
“...a desire or faith for a
better future when you can't
see the way.”

Hope:
“...a desire or faith for a
better future when you can't
see the way.”

Hope:
“...a desire or faith for a
better future when you can't
see the way.”

